The temperance people had for a long time been quietly working up data, and during this term of court several ipportant cases of illieft sale of liquor in this local option county were up for trial. Three separate indictments were brought against Warren Bromley and Mrs. Lewis Bromley for the illieft sale of Mquor.

The lawyers for the American Jewelry Company, of Baltimore, withdrew their suit against George H. Smith, of Miskimmon.

This company had sold to the merchants throughout the Northern Neek jewelry cases and jewelry, which they guaranteed for a certain number of years. The jewelry did not last as long as the company guaranteed, so Smith refused to pay for it. This suit was of no little importance, as many like cases were awaiting the decision of the court.

The slander suit of Richard Adam vs. Alley Clark, a suit which has been pending in the courts for nearly four years, attracted a great deal of attention, as everybody in the neighborhood of the gentlemen were in some way connected with the case.

The parlor, in which the ceremony took place was decorated with autumn foliage and a profusion of bright nasturtiums. The decorations of the dining-room, in which was served a tempting luncheon of substantial delicacies, were yellow chrysanthernums and ferns.

The ceremony was simple and impressive; there were no attendants; the bride and groom standing alone in a floral bower of the window recess. She is a very pretty spirituelle blonde, and was very fair and attractive in a handsome going away costume of brown cloth with tripmings of accurates.

There were no attendants except the little flower bearers, Ellen, James, Katharine and Elizabeth Mott, nieces and nephew of the groom. The beautiful low wainscoted room was filled with fragrin flowers and was a thing of beauty.

Mr. W. S. Mott, brother of the groom, was the best man. The bridal party entered the room to the strains of Mendelssolin's wedding march played by Mrs. W. S. Mott. After a most delicious breakfast the wedding party left for New York.

The following guests were present: Miss Sanders, of Albany; Mr. and Mrs. David Sanders, of Albany; Mr. and Mrs. David Sanders, of Midothian; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. FAMOUS FORBES WOOLDRIDGE GASE

The Prisoners Are Opposed to Being Tried in Prince Edward.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BUCKINGHAM C. H., VA. Oct. 25—The now famous trial of Charles I. Forbes and Ele Wooldridge, for arson, will be taken up on the third Monday in November in the town of Farmville. Wooldridge says he wants to be tried in Buckingham, and wall he might say this for he hus friends here, and there are people here who have experienced kindines at his hands, while in the adjoining county he would be comparatively a stranger. For the lawyers to attend Prince Edward Court it will be much more convenient, as also for the witnesses from Appomattox and from the southern part of this county.

Forbes may be given his choice of remaining in jail here or being confined in the jail at Farmville, pending his trial, and he chose to remain here. So far Charlie Forbes seems to have been ain deal prisoner, giving the jail authorities no unnecessary trouble. His nerves must have undergone a great strain since his confinement of some six or seven months. After his spell of typhoid fever and while in his weak state of body he had to remain in a few feet of where the negro Hanks was being hung, and then, after hoping to be tried at the October term of the Circuit Court here, he was disappointed. His efster, Miss Janie Forbes, has secured appointment as teacher in the "Malone" public school, near this place, and when she is here to see her brother the hourding thouse keepers have thrown open their doors to entertain her free of charge. You he other hand, "Cilff" Woolkridge has been a restless prisoner, and his attempt to free himself of his confinement, and then to claim that he intended when out to go and surrender himself to the officers of the law, is considered of a place with the many imprudent things he has done and said since this charge has been made against him.

As it is he now stands with the tenth indictment against him, nine of them on the charge of firing the nine huses on prudent things he has done and against him.

As it is he now stands with the tenth indictment against him, nine of them on the charge of irring the nine houses on the Forbes estate, and the one fresh one of attempting to break jail.

Mr. E. W. Hubard, who so ably prosecuted these cases, and who has been confined to the hospital by slokness, was expected home Saturday, but it is understood that this duty at the coming trial at Farmville will devolve on the attorney for the Commonwealth in Prince Edward county.

I heard a prominent county official say he thought if Mr. Hubard had been here and resisted the motion for a change of venue, that the judge would have had the trials of two interests at this place. It will be recalled that nine of the jurors at the trial of Wooldridgs voted for conviction. So far as is known no new tostimony has been adduced for either side, but public interest to the outcome of these cases is unabated, and the people are watching the papers to find out any move that is made in the matter.
